Department of Knowledge-Based Mathematical Systems, Johannes Kepler University Linz

Project position in algebra

Applications are invited for a fellowship in the framework of the Czech-Austrian cooperative project on

New perspectives on residuated posets.

The position is available for 1 year with a possible extension to 2 years, starting within 2016 (earliest 1 April). We invite applicants who hold, or expect to receive, a PhD in mathematics. Alternatively, the position is available for the acquisition of a PhD in mathematics.

There is no teaching load. We are searching for somebody who is interested in the topic of residuated structures and willing to contribute with own creative ideas.

In case of your interest, please submit a short CV, a list of publications if applicable, and a statement about your research interests to Thomas.Vetterlein@jku.at.
